Director's Note:

The big news this month is the transition of the MaineInfonet Download Library from vendor Overdrive to Bibliotheca/3M's CloudLibrary. Patrons at Windham Public Library have the added benefit of already having access to the CloudLibrary through our library's current subscription. If you have only been using Overdrive, visit the download collection page of our website and orient yourself to the new platform for ebooks and eaudiobooks. It is very easy to use! With the transition of the MaineInfonet Download Library, the collection size and wait times will be very manageable. Windham Public Library will continue to add our own items to the collection and Windham Public Library cardholders will have priority on these items and the ability to place holds on them (other cardholders will not have the same ability). There is plenty of information on our website regarding the transition. If you need additional help, or have questions or any trouble setting up the app, please see a staff person for assistance. We are excited about this change and look forward to providing a wider variety of items and an easier user experience.

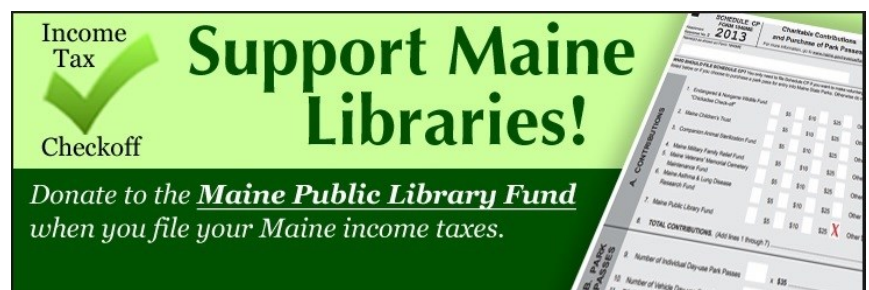

In addition, this month we'll be celebrating Teen Tech Week, March 5-11. Our friend Chris Dorman from the State Library will be visiting on Monday, March 6th from 2-4pm. Chris will bring with her all kinds of fun gadgets for people to see and learn about. Whenever Chris visits it's always a good time. Join us! Library staff members are exploring ideas for regular technology programming. If you have some ideas about what you would like to see us offer, please talk to a staff person.

Visit the library website and click Calendar to see all our events going on at the library. There's something for everyone.

Have a safe and happy holiday season!

For adults

If you liked Anthony Doerr's All the Light We Cannot See, try A Constellation of Vital Phenomena by Anthony Marra. An equally sweeping and beautiful story set in another country, during a different war, Constellation is a book that will ask you to be patient, to wait for the connections, to hold on for the big payoff. It's worth it.

Image: www.amazon.com

If you like Kiera Cass's "Selection" series (The Selection, The Elite, The One, etc.), try the "Matched" series (Matched, Crossed, Reached) by Allyson Condie. Both feature love triangles set in future societies. Addicting storylines, complicated love, unusual worlds—what's not to like?
